SPLASH UNVEILS INNOVATIVE ARTISTIC PITTSBURGH COLLABORATION

Kitchen and bath hardware mecca Splash, known for its expansive collection of high-end design materials from around the world, is exclusively featuring an artistic collaboration with Pittsburgh roots. Architect Matthew Schueb is noted for his creation of Villa Vuoto, his home in Wexford that incorporates bright yellow, red, and purple stucco, as well as circular shapes, and dozens of round windows. Schueb has developed a line of blown glass hardware with Pittsburgh glass artist Daneal Ferraro. The pieces glisten with tiny millefiore patterns and gleam with brilliantly bright beautiful colors. Beth Fay Lane, hardware specialist at Splash, has worked with Schueb on projects before, including Villa Vuoto. "When he approached me about wanting to develop a line of blown glass cabinet hardware, I knew the result would be artistic and interesting," Lane says. "I think the local connection is great, and the fact that the items are handmade gives them a unique personality." Pieces can also be customized. Price upon request. Splash, 1237 Freedom Road, Cranberry Twp. 724.772.1060. exploresplash.com.
